Dear Ms. Musselwhite,

What an amazing year 2015 has been so far! We brought more than 70 survivors, caregivers, researchers and others touched by ovarian cancer to Capitol Hill in March, where they asked for federal funding of ovarian cancer programs. We've taken a leading role in several legislative issues that could affect ovarian cancer patients, including a law that could roll back privacy protections for information about a person's genetics. And when Angelina Jolie Pitt ignited a conversation about ovarian cancer prevention, we spoke out in the New York Times and Los Angeles Times.

One ovarian cancer survivor recently told us "the Alliance gives us the means to make a difference." Another told us that attending our National Conference "was a life-changing experience." This year, our 2015 Ovarian Cancer National Conference will bring around 400 ovarian cancer survivors and caregivers to California in July. They will gain hope and inspiration from one another and from a stellar list of expert speakers. Your support will help us continue to make a difference in 2015 and beyond.

Thank you for taking action by supporting the Ovarian Cancer National Alliance's programs for women facing this disease. We appreciate your generous donation of $850, received July 2, 2015, in honor of Cooking for the Cure.

All the best,

Calaneet Balas
